INSTITUTIONAL CASH SERIES PLC

BACKGROUND

Institutional Cash Series Plc (the “Entity”) is an open-ended investment company with variable capital. The Entity was incorporated in Ireland on 9 December 1998 with limited liability between its funds and is organised under the laws of Ireland and is regulated by the Central Bank of Ireland (“CBI”) as a public limited company pursuant to the Companies Act 2014 (as amended) and the European Communities (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations, 2011 (as amended) (the “UCITS Regulations”).

The Entity is structured as an umbrella fund and comprises of separate funds (“Fund”) of the Entity. The shares of each Fund may be grouped into different classes of shares (each a “share class”). Each Fund will represent a separate portfolio of assets and may consist of one or more share classes. Each share class may apply different subscription and redemption provisions, charges, fees or brokerage arrangements. The creation of an additional class of shares will be notified to the CBI in advance. The portfolio of assets maintained for each Fund will be invested in accordance with the investment objectives and policies applicable to each Fund as set out in the prospectus and supplements.

While assets and liabilities that are specific to a share class within a Fund would be attributable to (and should be borne by) only that share class, there is no segregation of liabilities between share classes as a matter of Irish law. Due to the lack of segregation of liabilities as a matter of law, there is a risk that the creditors of a share class may bring a claim against the assets of the Fund notionally allocated to other share classes.

The term “Fund” or “Financial Product” shall be deemed to mean either a Fund or Funds of the Entity, or if the context so requires, the Manager or its delegate acting for the accounts of the relevant Fund. The term “BlackRock” and “Investment Manager” are used to represent BlackRock Investment Management (UK) Limited and/or BlackRock Capital Management, Inc. as appropriate. All references to “redeemable shares” shall be deemed to mean redeemable participating shares when Fund shares are classified as financial liabilities. The term “Directors” means the directors of the Entity.

Further details, including the investment objectives and minimum subscription requirements, are set out in the Entity’s prospectus.

Performance summary

The following table compares the realised Fund performance against the relevant performance measure for the 6 month period ended 31 March 2025.

Further information on calculation methodologies used is detailed below:

- Fund returns disclosed are the performance returns for the primary share class for the Fund, net of fees and expenses charged directly within the relevant share class, which has been selected as a representative share class. The primary share class represents the class of share invested in by the majority of investors in the Fund and also takes into account other relevant factors such as the Fund's base currency. The returns disclosed for the comparative are in the same currency as the primary share class, unless otherwise stated. The return of the primary share class disclosed may differ to the aggregate Fund performance for all share classes as reported in the financial statements primarily due to the impact of foreign currency translation and share class specific expenses. Performance returns for any other share class can be made available on request.
- Fund returns are based on the sum of the daily dividend rates, net of fees. Due to Financial Reporting Standard 104 Interim Financial Reporting ("FRS 104") requirements which apply to the financial statements, there may be differences between the NAV per share as recorded in the financial statements and the NAV per share calculated in accordance with the prospectus.
- The total expense ratio ("TER") expresses the sum of all fees, operating costs and expenses, with the exception of direct trading costs, charged to each Fund's assets as a percentage of the average Fund assets based on a twelve-month period ended 31 March 2025.

Global economic overview

Global equities, as represented by the MSCI All Country World Index, returned (2.30)% (in USD terms) during the six months ended 31 March 2025. Equities declined despite falling inflation (the rate of increase in the prices of goods and services) and looser monetary policy from the world's largest central banks. Investor sentiment was dominated by geopolitical tensions, including conflict in Europe and the Middle East, and the introduction in early 2025 of protectionist trade policies in the US, which raised the prospect of disruption to the global economy.

Having slowed somewhat at the start of 2024, economic growth in the US remained strong in the third and fourth quarters of the year as a result of resilient consumer spending. In Japan, gross domestic product ("GDP") continued its recovery from a period of contraction: the measure expanded by an annual rate of 0.9% in the third quarter of 2024 and then by 0.7% in the final three months of the year. The expansion of the UK economy, meanwhile, stalled between July and September 2024, and grew by just 0.1% in the last quarter of 2024. The Eurozone grew in the third quarter, but GDP was unchanged in the final three months of 2024 due to weakness in Germany and France.

Most emerging markets continued to expand, although geopolitical conflict and high interest rates presented significant economic challenges. The Chinese GDP grew more slowly than expected amid concerns about the country's real estate sector and weak factory output. However, the announcement of a new round of stimulus measures at the end of September 2024 was received positively by investors. India's GDP rose by 6.2% in the last three months of the year, having posted a gain of 5.6% in the third quarter of 2024.

Central banks in the west continued to loosen monetary policy. The US Federal Reserve ("the Fed") reduced interest rates for the first time in over four years in September 2024, followed up with further cuts in November and December 2024. The Bank of England ("BoE") continued cutting interest rates after inflation in the UK had fallen to the BoE's 2.0% target, while the European Central Bank ("ECB") reduced interest rates on four occasions during the six-month period. The Bank of Japan ("BoJ") increased borrowing costs further at the start of 2025 in response to rising domestic inflation.

The performance of global equity markets was mixed over the period. Investors welcomed looser monetary policy in the West and investors initially reacted positively to Donald Trump's victory in the US presidential election in November 2024. However, there were sharp declines in US markets in early 2025 due to worries that tariffs introduced by the new administration could lead to higher inflation and lower growth. After a period of consistent gains, major technology stocks fell back as concerns grew about the scale of infrastructure investment needed to support artificial intelligence ("AI") platforms. Stocks in Asia also struggled over the six months. Share prices in China gave up some of the strong gains seen at the end of September 2024 following the announcement of new stimulus measures, while the Japanese market declined on fears that exporters could be hit by US tariffs. Performance among European stocks was relatively positive as investors looked forward to further interest rate cuts; European markets also benefited from a rotation out of US shares in early 2025.

Globally, bonds and equities that factor in companies' environmental, social and governance ("ESG") characteristics faced regulatory concerns and shifting investor sentiment. Despite this, ESG funds experienced positive inflows overall. Over 2024 as a whole, European investment remained strong, although the pace of outflows in the US accelerated.

US government bond yields (which move inversely to bond prices) rose over the final quarter of 2024, initially due to uncertainty surrounding the outcome of the US presidential election, and then as a result of the potentially inflationary impact of the Trump administration's economic policies.

Yields on UK gilts rose over the six months, partly as a result of plans to increase borrowing announced in the government's October budget. Meanwhile, European government bond yields rose due to concerns about the impact of US tariffs and German government plans to increase borrowing to fund defence and infrastructure spending. Japanese government bond yields rose steadily over the six months on expectations of further BoJ interest rate increases. Global corporate bond performance was broadly positive; continued resilience in the global economy alleviated credit concerns, particularly for high yield bonds.

In the commodities markets, Brent crude oil prices declined overall due to global production increases and signs of a de-escalation of conflict in the Middle East. Gold prices rose to record highs amid geopolitical tensions and the possibility that American trade policy could lead to turbulence in equity and bond markets. Having fallen in the summer, copper prices rose on hopes of stronger growth in China in 2025 and as a result of traders making purchases ahead of possible US tariffs.

In foreign exchange markets, the US dollar's performance relative to other major global currencies was positive. The US dollar rose against sterling, the euro, the Japanese yen and the Chinese yuan.

Over the past six months, inflation in the euro area has shown a clear downward trend, easing from 4.1% in quarter three 2024 to 3.2% in quarter four. This improvement was driven by easing supply chain issues, stabilising energy prices, and weaker demand. However, economic growth remained sluggish, with a slight contraction of 0.1% in the fourth quarter, due to weak consumer sentiment and challenging trade conditions. In response, the ECB adjusted rates by cutting them by 50 basis points to 3.25% in quarter four to support economic activity. Despite this, the outlook for 2025 remains uncertain, largely depending on the balance between inflation and economic growth.

In early 2025, volatility remained high due to ongoing uncertainty around US tariffs and Europe's fiscal plans, particularly Germany's increased defence and infrastructure spending. These uncertainties have made it difficult to forecast the direction of growth and inflation, prompting us to maintain a cautious approach to duration risk in our money market strategies.

Market yields moved lower as the ECB made further rate cuts in January and March 2025, reducing rates by 25 basis points each time. The ESTR curve shifted down across all maturities, with the 1-month rate falling by 55 basis points, the 6-month by 24, and the 12-month by 10. The 2-year rate remained largely unchanged, while the 3-year ticked up slightly by 4 basis points.

Looking ahead, markets are increasingly anticipating another rate cut in April, with the probability rising to 96% following new tariff announcements. However, some members of the ECB have expressed caution, suggesting that the decision to ease further may depend on the evolution of trade tensions with the US.

BlackRock Euro Ultra Short Core Bond Fund

BlackRock ICS Euro Ultra Short Bond Fund

Throughout quarter four 2024, the Funds maintained a slightly short duration due to the inverted yield curve. The interest rate difference between one-year and one-month maturities averaged 40 basis points, which led to a slight 4 basis point reduction in the overall fund yield from holding a 10% duration position. Despite the market's aggressive pricing of a future terminal rate in accommodative territory, which contrasted with the ECB's stance on maintaining a restrictive policy, we took a tactical approach. We increased duration when opportunities arose, such as in October before the ECB meeting, and also targeted opportunities in the cross-currency market, focusing on US dollar and British pound, while maintaining positions in A2/P2-rated credit. By the end of 2024, the Fund's duration and spread duration stood at 0.19 years and 0.40 years, respectively. In January, we added duration by targeting 1-year ECPs, taking advantage of a market correction. As the market rallied and the ECB moved to cut rates, we let duration drift back toward neutral. By the end of March, the portfolio's duration increased to 0.24 years. We also extended our spread duration during the quarter, benefiting from a healthy supply of Euro floating rate notes, with 2-year Euro FRNs coming to market at +40 to +45 basis points over 3-month Euribor. Additionally, we added Tier 2 corporate names (rated A2/P2) at the front end of the curve, where supply remained strong even as the quarter came to a close.

During the first part of the period, we took advantage of market volatility, increasing duration when rates dropped both at the beginning of the quarter and in mid-November. In December, as we saw the usual year-end increase in the value of short-term government paper and faced concerns over France following its government collapse, we decided to shorten duration. In the second part of the period, we again capitalised on market volatility, adding duration when rates dipped, particularly in the 3 to 6-month space. These trades were successful, both in terms of yield and break-even. Later in the quarter, we identified value in short-dated bills and adjusted our strategy to hold more overnight liquidity. As a result, our weighted average maturity ("WAM") increased from 15 days to 23 days by the end of March.

In the first part of the period, we believed the market was overestimating the number of rate cuts, so we focused on the shorter end of the curve, targeting maturities in the 1 to 4-month range where breakevens were more favorable. With the year-end approaching, we prioritized liquidity by increasing our capacity for overnight placements, adding short-term government paper, and targeting maturities in early January. As a result, the WAM decreased from 44 to 33 days. In January, market repricing offered an opportunity to add some 1-year fixed-rate trades, which were attractive from a break-even perspective and helped us increase our WAM to about 50 days. This reflected our longer-duration bias and expectations for further rate cuts. We also continued allocating to the 3 to 6-month part of the curve while maintaining elevated liquidity levels due to uncertainty around US tariff news. By the end of the quarter, our WAM decreased slightly to around 40 days.

Over the past six months, the UK economy faced some notable challenges. In quarter four 2024, inflation unexpectedly spiked, rising from 1.7% to 2.6% in November, signaling that inflationary pressures were more persistent than anticipated. Economic growth was weak, with only a 0.1% increase in GDP, and businesses continued to struggle due to high interest rates and slowing demand. In response, the BoE reduced its benchmark interest rate from 5% to 4.75%. However, inflation risks remain a key concern as we enter 2025, and the BoE is facing a delicate balance between managing inflation and supporting economic growth.

In quarter one 2025, the BoE maintained a cautious stance, with the base rate held at 4.5% following an 8-1 vote. While there was speculation about a rate cut, more policymakers, including Governor Andrew Bailey, adopted a wait-and-see approach. The BoE emphasised that they are closely monitoring both global and domestic developments, especially with inflation potentially rising to double the 2% target later in the year. The BoE's guidance remained focused on a "gradual and careful" approach to rate cuts.

In the UK money market, rates generally fell over the quarter, with the curve shifting lower by about 25 basis points across most maturities. By the end of March, markets were pricing in a 70% chance of a 25 basis point rate cut in May, with expectations of around 58 basis points of easing over the next year. The terminal rate is now expected to fall to approximately 3.70% by the end of 2025, following a repricing due to new tariff data, with three rate cuts priced in, starting in May.

Over the past six months, we have remained focused on navigating market volatility while maintaining a balanced approach between duration and liquidity. In quarter four 2024, we anticipated a rate cut in November and adjusted our strategy accordingly. We added 3- and 6-month UK Treasury Bills, locking in yields between 4.70% and 4.75%. We also secured sufficient Repo capacity to manage year-end volatility, while adding short-duration bills through December, keeping an eye on potential rate cuts in February. In early 2025, we took proactive steps to protect against a possible February rate cut by buying additional 3- and 6-month UK Treasury Bills, locking in yields between 4.70% and 4.74%. Following the rate cut, we focused on optimising returns from our overnight repo trades and the 3 to 6-month space, securing yields around 4.45%. As we moved further into 2025, we began factoring in the growing likelihood of another rate cut at the May MPC meeting.

Over the past six months, we actively managed duration, staying vigilant to both global and UK risks. In quarter four 2024, ahead of the November BoE meeting, we anticipated a rate cut and positioned ourselves accordingly by adding duration in the 3- to 6-month part of the curve, locking in yields between 4.80% and 4.90%. We maintained our WAM target around 50 days, occasionally extending it to 55 days when favorable opportunities arose. In early 2025, we took a more active approach, aiming to align our duration with the 50-day target by adding 6-month to 1-year fixed paper, securing yields between 4.75% and 4.80%, ahead of the expected February rate cut. After that adjustment, we continued to build out duration throughout the quarter, maintaining our WAM target at around 50 days. As we believed the market was underestimating the chances of further rate cuts in 2025, we continued adding 6- to 12-month paper, this time locking in yields around 4.50% to 4.60%.

Over the past six months, we maintained a long-duration stance for much of the quarter, purchasing assets at yields above the BoE's current rate. By the end of December 2024, market expectations for the BoE base rate had risen to 4.11%. We also explored investment opportunities in the US dollar and Euro markets, focusing on high-quality credit. In early 2025, we extended duration between January and early February by buying 1-year commercial paper at yields ranging from 4.65% to 4.84%, which increased our duration to 0.31 years. As the market rallied, we pivoted to rebuild overnight liquidity to around 20%, which naturally brought our duration lower. However, we still favored longer-duration trades overall. During this period, we targeted Tier 2 corporate credits (A2/P2) at the front of the curve, taking advantage of a strong supply backdrop as we approached the quarter-end. We also added 2-year British pound AAA floating rate covered bonds at spreads of +47 to +48 basis points over Sonia. Spread duration moved between 0.32 and 0.38 years, ending the quarter at 0.36 years.

Over the past six months, the Fed took a cautious, data-driven approach to interest rate cuts, lowering rates in stages. A 50-basis-point cut in September was followed by two smaller cuts of 25 basis points each in November and December, bringing the rate to 4.25–4.50% by year-end. Despite progress on headline inflation, which dropped to 2.7% in November, core inflation remained persistently high, continuing to pressure policymakers.

The labor market stayed strong, providing the Fed some room to cut rates but without aggressive actions, as they aimed to balance economic growth with inflation control. Consequently, market expectations adjusted to a slower pace of rate cuts.

In early 2025, the US economy remained resilient, leading the Fed to pause its rate-cutting cycle. The federal funds rate held steady at 4.25–4.50%, signaling caution amid strong economic indicators. However, market focus shifted to the policy stance of the new US President, particularly regarding the introduction of global trade tariffs. In early April, President Trump announced "reciprocal tariffs," including a baseline 10% tariff on imports, raising concerns about potential risks to economic growth and inflation. This led to increased volatility in money market yields, with investors reassessing rate expectations amid potential trade disruptions.

By the end of the period, markets were pricing in additional rate cuts, contributing to a slight inversion of the money market curve, primarily driven by a decline in longer-dated tenors. In response to the economic and policy uncertainties, we maintained a nimble investment approach, prioritising higher liquidity levels, better-rated investments, and strong diversification to navigate this evolving landscape.

BlackRock ICS US Dollar Liquid Environmentally Aware Fund

In a challenging market, we remained nimble, balancing yield opportunities with the possibility of future rate hikes. We strategically added longer-dated investments, keeping the Fund's WAM in the 40–45 day range. On the credit side, we focused on high-rated investments and maintained strong diversification, carefully considering geopolitical and sovereign risks. As uncertainty around both policy and the broader economy grew, we continued to prioritise liquidity, investing in higher-rated names and ensuring broad diversification across the portfolio to navigate the evolving landscape effectively.

Over the past six months, flexibility remained central to our strategy. We strategically added both fixed and floating longer-term investments, using floating-rate instruments as a hedge against rising rate risks. While maintaining a modestly long duration to capture positive carry opportunities, we prioritised higher-rated investments when extending maturities. On the liquidity side, we focused on optimising short-term tier-two investments, carefully balancing yield with risk. Throughout this period, we remained nimble, seeking opportunities to add longer-dated positions across both fixed and floating instruments, while keeping overall duration moderately long. On the credit front, we exercised caution by limiting Tier 2 exposures to shorter tenors and emphasising higher-quality credits when extending maturity. This approach allowed us to manage risk effectively while still positioning for yield in a dynamic market environment.

Over the past six months, we adjusted our fund strategy in response to the Fed's cautious approach and persistent inflation concerns. By December, we extended both the WAM and weighted average life ("WAL") to 42 and 59 days, respectively, capitalising on longer-tenor securities such as Treasury floating rate notes. We also slightly increased our allocation to repo markets to enhance liquidity and yield. This barbell approach, balancing longer-term investments with repos, helped us manage volatility while positioning the portfolio for a gradual shift in the rate environment. As economic uncertainties persisted and the Fed adopted a more cautious tone, we shifted the portfolio to a more defensive stance. We maintained the barbell approach, adding longer-dated fixed-rate positions at yields close to overnight funding levels, while also boosting floating rate exposure. Additionally, we raised our allocation to repos, which helped mitigate unexpected flow volatility. Over the quarter, we shortened both WAM and WAL, reducing WAM from 42 to 26 days and WAL from 59 to 41 days. This adjustment was largely driven by increasing our repo allocation from 41% to 57%, which not only bolstered liquidity but also supported yield, as repo rates tracked SOFR closely, averaging between 4.33% and 4.35% during the period.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. General information

The Entity is an open-ended investment company domiciled and incorporated under the laws of Ireland as a public limited company. The Entity is authorised by the CBI and is governed by the provisions of the UCITS Regulations with its registered office at 200 Capital Dock, 79 Sir John Rogerson's Quay, Dublin 2, D02 RK57, Ireland.

2. Significant accounting policies

2.1 Basis of preparation

The financial statements of the Entity are prepared in accordance with Financial Reporting Standard 104 Interim Financial Reporting ("FRS 104") applicable in the United Kingdom and Republic of Ireland. The principal accounting policies and estimation techniques are consistent with those applied to the previous annual financial statements.

All amounts have been rounded to the nearest thousand, unless otherwise indicated.

3. Financial risks

Each Fund's investment activities expose it to the various types of risk which are associated with the financial instruments and markets in which it invests. The risks are substantially consistent with those disclosed in the previous annual financial statements.

3.1 Market risk arising from price risk

Price risk is the risk that the fair value of future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices (other than those arising from interest rate risk or currency risk), whether those changes are caused by factors specific to the individual financial instrument or its issuer, or factors affecting similar financial instruments traded in the market. Local, regional or global events such as war, acts of terrorism, the spread of infectious illness or other public health issue, recessions, or other events could have a significant impact on each Fund and the market price of its investments.

4. Fair value hierarchy

Each Fund classifies financial instruments measured at fair value using a fair value hierarchy. The fair value hierarchy has the following categories:

Level 1: The unadjusted quoted price in an active market for identical assets or liabilities that the entity can access at the measurement date.

Level 2: Inputs other than quoted prices included within level 1 that are observable (i.e. developed using market data) for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly. This category includes instruments valued using quoted market prices in active markets for similar instruments; quoted prices for identical or similar instruments in markets that are considered less than active; or other valuation techniques where all significant inputs are directly or indirectly observable from market data.

Level 3: Inputs are unobservable (i.e. for which market data is unavailable) for the asset or liability. This category includes all instruments where the valuation techniques used include inputs not based on market data and these inputs could have a significant impact on the instrument's valuation. This category also includes instruments that are valued based on quoted prices for similar instruments where significant entity determined adjustments or assumptions are required to reflect differences between the instruments and instruments for which there is no active market.

Specific valuation techniques used to value financial instruments classified as level 2 include:

- (i) for debt instruments, the use of quoted market prices or dealer quotes for similar instruments;
- (ii) for foreign currency forwards, present value of future cash flows based on the forward exchange rates at the condensed balance sheet date; and
- (iii) for other financial instruments, discounted cash flow analysis.

The level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement is categorised in its entirety is determined on the basis of the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety. For this purpose, the significance of an input is assessed against the fair value measurement in its entirety. If a fair value measurement uses observable inputs that require significant adjustment based on unobservable inputs, that measurement is a level 3 measurement. Assessing the significance of a particular input to the fair value measurement in its entirety requires judgement, considering factors specific to the asset or liability.

The determination of what constitutes 'observable' inputs requires significant judgement. The Directors consider observable inputs to be market data that is readily available, regularly distributed or updated, reliable and verifiable, not proprietary, and provided by independent sources that are actively involved in the relevant market.

6. Taxation

Irish tax

Under current law and practice, the Entity qualifies as an investment undertaking as defined in Section 739B of the Taxes Consolidation Act, 1997, as amended. On that basis it is not chargeable to Irish tax on its income or gains. However, Irish tax may arise on the occurrence of a 'chargeable event'. A chargeable event includes any distribution payments to shareholders or any encashment, redemption, cancellation or transfer of shares and the holding of shares at the end of each eight year period beginning with the acquisition of such shares.

No Irish tax will arise on the Entity in respect of chargeable events in respect of:

- A shareholder who is neither Irish resident nor ordinarily resident in Ireland for tax purposes, at the time of the chargeable event, provided appropriate valid declarations in accordance with the provisions of the Taxes Consolidation Act, 1997, as amended, are held by the Entity; or the Entity has been authorised by the Irish Revenue to make gross payments in the absence of appropriate declarations; and
- Certain exempted Irish tax resident shareholders who have provided the Entity with the necessary signed annual declarations.

Overseas tax

Dividends, interest and capital gains (if any) received on investments made by the Entity may be subject to withholding taxes imposed by the country from which the investment income/gains are received, and such taxes may not be recoverable by the Entity or its shareholders.

For financial reporting purposes, and in accordance with FRS 104, the Entity must recognise a provision for deferred tax payable arising from material timing differences between the taxation of unrealised gains in the financial statements and actual realisable taxable profits.

In October 2021, the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development ("OECD") introduced a 15% global minimum tax under the Pillar Two Global Anti-Base Erosion ("GloBE") model rules. Key provisions are being phased in during 2024 and 2025. Several OECD member countries have enacted tax legislation effective 1 January 2024, and others have announced plans to implement similar laws. While the Entity does not expect Pillar Two to have a material impact to its provision for income taxes for 2024, the rules are subject to negotiation and change. The Entity will monitor developments as more countries enact legislation and new guidance is released.

Based on the available legislation, the Entity concluded there was no material impact on income taxes with respect to Pillar Two for the six months ended 31 March 2025. The Entity will continue to evaluate the potential future impacts of Pillar Two and will continue to review and monitor the issuance of additional guidance.

7. Share capital

Authorised

The authorised share capital of the Entity is 40,000 subscriber shares of a par value of €1.00 each and 500,000,000,000 participating shares of no par value.

Subscriber shares

3 subscriber shares are currently in issue and are held by the Manager and nominees of the Manager at 31 March 2025 and 30 September 2024. They do not form part of the NAV of the Entity. They are thus disclosed in the financial statements by way of this note only. In the opinion of the Directors this disclosure reflects the nature of the Entity's investment business.

Voting rights

The holders of the subscriber shares and redeemable shares shall, on a poll, be entitled to one vote per share.

EFFICIENT PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT AND SECURITIES FINANCING TRANSACTIONS

Efficient portfolio management techniques

The Directors may, on behalf of each Fund and subject to the conditions and within the limits laid down by the CBI and the prospectus, employ techniques and instruments relating to transferable securities for hedging purposes (to protect an asset of a Fund against, or minimise liability from, fluctuations in market value or foreign currency exposures) or for efficient portfolio management purposes (with a view to achieving a reduction in risk, a reduction in cost or an increase in capital or income returns to the Fund provided such transactions are not speculative in nature). Investment in FDI which give exposure to foreign exchange will only be used for hedging purposes. Such techniques and instruments may include investments in exchange-traded or OTC FDIs, such as futures and currency forwards (which may be used to manage market and currency risk respectively), options (including call and put options which may be used to achieve cost efficiencies), swaps, including credit default swaps (which may be used to manage interest rate and credit risk respectively), and contracts for difference. A Fund may also invest in the FDI as part of its investment strategy where such intention is disclosed in the Fund's investment policy and provided that the counterparties to such transactions are institutions subject to prudential supervision and, in relation to OTC transactions, belong to categories approved by the CBI.

The Investment Manager employs a risk management process in respect of the Funds in accordance with the requirements of the Central Bank to enable it to accurately monitor, measure and manage, the global exposure from FDIs ("global exposure") which each Fund gains. The Investment Manager uses a methodology known as the Commitment Approach in order to measure the global exposure of the Funds and manage the potential loss to them due to market risk. The Company will, on request, provide supplemental information to shareholders relating to the risk management methods employed, including the quantitative limits that are applied and any recent developments in the risk and yield characteristics of the main categories of investment.

In addition to the investments in FDIs noted above, the Funds may employ other techniques and instruments relating to transferable securities and money market instruments subject to the UCITS regulations and to conditions imposed by the CBI such as repurchase/reverse repurchase transactions and securities lending.

The underlying exposure obtained through FDI and the identity of the counterparties to these FDIs at the financial period end are disclosed on the relevant Fund's schedule of investments.

Reverse repurchase transactions

All reverse repurchase transactions are entered into by each Fund with a counterparty under a Global Master Repurchase Agreement ("GMRA"). All collateral received by each Fund under the GMRA is transferred under a title transfer arrangement. Collateral received by each Fund is held in an account in the name of the Depositary on behalf of each Fund, and in case of tri-party reverse repurchase transactions with a tri-party collateral manager in the name of the Depositary on behalf of each Fund. Collateral received is segregated from the assets belonging to the Fund's Depositary.

The following table details the reverse repurchase transactions as a proportion of each Fund's NAV, as at 31 March 2025 and the returns earned for the period ended 31 March 2025.

Investment grade securities are those issued by an entity with a minimum investment grade credit rating from at least one globally recognised credit rating agency; Standard & Poor's, Moody's or Fitch.

A recognised equity index contains at least 20 equities where no single equity represents more than 20% of the total index and no five equities combined represent more than 60% of the total index.

The maturity tenor analysis for fixed income securities received as collateral is based on the respective contractual maturity date.
